AFTT campus is located at 41 Holt Street, Surry Hills, Sydney. AFTT is situated in Sydney's city centre, midway between the vibrant bustling inner-city suburb of Newtown, and the back-packer beach haven, Coogee.

AFTT is less than five (5) minutes' walk away from Central Station (train and bus interchange) which has regular public transport services. For transport timetables, visit <https://transportnsw.info/#/>

3.2 Introducing Sydney

Sydney is Australia's largest city and is widely recognised as one of the most beautiful and exciting cities in the world. The climate is cool to temperate in winter and warm in summer, allowing residents and visitors to take advantage of more than 70 harbour and ocean beaches, including the famous Bondi Beach.

Sydney is a multicultural city that is home to citizens from over 180 countries and 35% of its population was born overseas. This unique blend of cultures ensures a diverse mix of cafes, shops and restaurants. It's a fantastic place to live and work and has numerous eccentric districts and suburbs.

The diverse population also means there are many cultural activities as well as a host of diverse theatres including the Sydney Opera House and Sydney Theatre Company, cinemas, museums and galleries. There is a dynamic blend of state, independent and fringe theatre plus short film festivals, as well as many other performance events.

Although a relatively young city, established when British colonists settled in Australia in 1788, Sydney is a beautiful combination of the old and new. Landmarks to look out for include the Sydney Harbour Bridge, State Library, Bondi Beach and the sandstone alleyways of The Rocks.
